INTERVENTION PROBABLE NOW

Huerta Will Demand Diaz from American Cruiser Wheeling

HIS REQUEST DOUBTLESS WILL BE REFUSED

Diaz Will be Landed at Some Neutral Port, According to Request

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Government officials in close touch with the Mexican situation, believe that intervention is almost inevitable and have admitted this openly. Diaz's appeal for protection, it is said, could not be ignored and it is believed he was taken to the warship when it was learned that the sanctuary of the American consulate might be violated. It is believed that Huerta will demand that he be surrendered to the Mexican government and this will be refused. The state department has ordered Consul Canada at Vera Cruz to learn where Diaz wishes to be put ashore and it is expected that he will be taken to a neutral port.

Huerta is expected to resign the presidency in favor of Minister of War Blanquet or ex-foreign Minister Gamboa. Either would be under his control and he would probably make himself war minister.

Anti-American feeling among Huertistas is reported to be increasing. Bryan has received another long cipher message from Lind and another from O'Shaughnessy. Both are guarded but fears are expressed that it will be necessary to land marines to comply with the French demand on America to protect her subjects at San Ignacio, Sinaloa, forty miles inland.

POWERS AGREE TO AWAIT AMERICA'S ACTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Bryan has officially announced that Germany, France and England agree to defer action in Mexico pending the official announcement of America's policy, which it is expected will be announced upon President Wilson's return to Washington. The action was taken on America's request, Bryan said.

KAISER CROSS WITH DUKE

Nobleman Makes Sure of Bride, Then Has Another Ceremony

GENEVA, Oct. 28.—Nancy Leishman, daughter of ex-Ambassador to Germany John Leishman, wedded the Duke of Croix at a magnificent Catholic ceremony at St. Joseph's Church here today. The civil ceremony was performed quietly yesterday by Mayor Peter, this ceremony being quiet because it was feared the Kaiser would interfere, as he was opposed to the union on account of the bride not being of noble blood. The civil service was binding, therefore there was no need for further secrecy.

There were throngs of guests to-day. The duke is now in exceedingly bad standing with continental royalty. The Kaiser is so incensed that he failed to grant Leishman the farewell audience usually granted to departing ambassadors.

CROSS EXAMINATION NO CHANGE TESTIMONY

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 28.—Cross examination by the prosecution of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Admiral J. G. Eaton, failed to shake the main points of her testimony. She was self-possessed throughout the examination and apparently made a good impression upon the jury. The morning session was completed without contradicting her direct testimony.

MRS. MILLIE DROWN COLLAPSED AT TRIAL

OAKLAND, Oct. 28.—Sobbing hysterically "Don't say that word murder," and protesting piteously that she did not kill her husband, Archie Drown, Friday morning, Mrs. Millie Drown was arraigned today. When the indictment was read she collapsed sobbing into the arms of a police matron. The Baxter police are convinced that jealousy was the only motive.

Hold-up Man Met His Death-- Woman's Hat Pin

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Death at the point of a woman's hatpin today supported the reputation of the chief feminine weapon of the season when John Neimtz, hold-up man, died at the County Hospital. The direct cause of his death was blood poisoning from a stab wound behind the left ear, the stab wound made by the hatpin of Mrs. Josephine Karmenisk, wife of a South Chicago saloon-keeper.

MORE MUSICIANS STATISTICS SAY

In Death Percentage for 1912 from Tuberculosis, Players Lead

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28.—Musicians had the highest death percentage from tuberculosis in 1912, according to statistics compiled by Statistician Leslie of the State Board of Health. Next in high percentages come plumbers, clerks, printers, tailors, waiters, barbers, painters, common laborers, teamsters, machinists, surveyors, miners, bakers, iron and steel workers, engineers and firemen and saloon keepers. The ratio for musicians was 40.7 per cent in 1912, with 22.2 per cent.

The percentage is below the average in the following occupations:

Stockraisers, hotel keepers, upholsterers, soldiers, sailors, hostlers, merchants, clergymen, farmers, boot and shoe makers, bankers and brokers and physicians and policemen. The percentage was lowest for policemen in 1912 at 6.4, bankers and brokers having been lowest in 1911, with 6.2. Among women the percentage is highest for bookkeepers and clerks, dressmakers and seamstresses, but is relatively low for teachers, nurses and servants.

A. E. WORTHY EDITOR OF STANFORD QUAD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 28.—Several new features will add much to the 1915 Quad (Stanford's annual publication) which is now well under way. A. E. Worthy of Santa Ana is editing it; Miss Mary Gard of Redlands is handling the women's activities; J. R. Davis of Pomona is attending to the senior honor roll; W. B. Blodgett of Huntington Beach, and Miss Hazel Clark of Redlands, are on the art staff, and Evelyn Trent of Los Angeles is writing dramatics.

RESOLUTION ASKS NO LIQUOR ON BOATS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Harry Armour, a Georgia delegate to the W. C. T. U. convention at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, introduced a resolution asking "the powers that be" to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors on all sea-going craft. She said that the Titanic disaster made it evident that safety on the ocean demanded total abstinence on board ship.

OKLAHOMA SNOWFALL HEAVIEST IN FIFTY YEARS

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Oct. 28.—Three inches of snow, the heaviest in 50 years this early in the season, fell here last night and early today. An inch of snow blown before a fierce wind fell over most of western Oklahoma.

FELIX DIAZ HAS FIRST ROAD TO AUTOMOBILES SMASHED BY RACERS NEAR CAMPO

W. C. Jerome's Machine Hit by a Buick —Tubbs and Burke Met With Accident at Descanso

Three Santa Ana Automobiles met with mishaps on the Los Angeles to Phoenix race route.

A Buick with four racing men in it viewing the road smashed into William C. Jerome's automobile near Campo, and left his machine disabled without giving their names.

John W. Tubbs and Sam Burke in Tubbs' Mercer collided with a machine near Descanso, and the Mercer was badly smashed up.

L. J. McKone, driving the Cadillac that he is going to drive in the road race on Nov. 3, ran into a wagon, and smashed one of his lights.

Friday and Saturday were bad days for Santa Ana machines on the road between San Diego and Yuma. Henley and Boyd Ellis went over the road, and they were the exception to the rule. They had no accident or near-accident.

Careless Driving According to W. C. Jerome, the people of Campo and that section are worked up over the tool-hardy driving that racing machines have been doing. Inside of twenty-four hours there were eight collisions.

In Jerome's machine with him were M. R. Scott and City Trustee W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana, and Harry Spencer of Myford. They were on a grade six miles east of Campo, returning from a trip to see Imperial lands, which suddenly rounded a sharp turn came a Buick with four men in it. The Buick was on the wrong side of the road, while Jerome's Halladay had its wheels almost against the bank on the right side.

The Buick tried to slow up and turn out, but the rear end swung in to the front of Jerome's car. A wheel was torn off, the axle bent and the frame twisted on the Santa Ana machine, while the Buick got off with a crumpled fender and toolbox and a broken drive-shaft. The drive-shaft was repaired, and the Buick went on, the four men in it admitting that they were racing men but refusing to give their names. Jerome has the number of the car.

This was Friday morning. The Santa Anas had to lay over until Sunday before a truck came out from San Diego and towed the wrecked machine in. That cost $65. On top of that comes the cost of repair.

The same day a new Pierce Arrow driven by G. W. Fishburn, president of the Marine National Bank of San Diego, was damaged $500 worth by an Apperson racing car from San Diego. The Apperson was so badly damaged it won't go in the race Nov. 3. This accident occurred within five miles west of Campo on the Cottonwood grade.

McKone met with his accident near Mountain Springs. No damage was done the wagon, and only slight damage to the car.

J. W. Tubbs' machine was run into by an automobile driven by a woman physician of San Diego, who swung suddenly around a curve on the road near Descanso. The front end of Tubbs' machine was damaged about as badly as it could be.

"The people of Campo are mighty tired of this racing business," said Jerome. "They hardly dare go out on the roads. One man told me that he takes his boy to and from school every day because he will not take any chances of him getting run over."

SAFETY FIRST R. R. SLOGAN

Salt Lake Sixty-Fourth Enlist Under Banner—Makes Good Showing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Beginning November 1 the Salt Lake railway will inaugurate what is known as the "safety and efficiency movement." It is the sixty-fourth railroad in the United States to enlist under the banner of "Safety First."

In a circular issued by H. C. Nutt, general manager, addressed to all employees, giving the details of the new movement, some interesting statistics are presented, the most significant fact being that during the past six and a half years the Salt Lake road has not killed one passenger in a train accident. During that time there have been three persons killed, two of them being inebriates who slipped from the steps of the train while it was in motion.

During that time, since 1907, fifteen travelers on the highways have been killed, fifty-eight employees and sixty-seven trespassers. During the time 3245 employees were injured, most of the injuries being minor ones. As the company carries on its pay rolls about 4000 employees, it may be seen that in the last six years about 1 out of 400 employees has been killed, and about 1 out of 8 injured each year.

INCUBATOR TWINS WEIGH FEW POUNDS

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 28.—Twins, a boy and a girl, born to the wife of M. N. Nelson, a motorman, were taken to an incubator here today in the hope that the treatment soon would increase their weight from the two and one-half pounds at which they now tip the beam.

The boy weighs a pound and a half while his sister weighs only a pound. Their appetites are satisfied with a half ounce of milk every two hours.

NEW CHARGE BY SULZER TODAY

Deposed Official Says Senator Stillwell Was Threatened by Tammany

ASSASSINATION PROMISED IF HE "SQUEALED"

Ex-Governor Alleges Senator Assured Release After Governor's Impeachment

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Asserting that former State Senator Stillwell of New York, now serving a term in Sing Sing, was threatened with assassination if he "squealed" on Tammany, ex-Governor Sulzer today made fresh charges against men responsible for his impeachment and removal. Stillwell was sentenced for bribery and said he would make a confession involving Tammany men if pardoned, according to Sulzer. The governor replied that confession should come first. Stillwell's friends then said he was afraid to act while in prison, saying that he had been warned to keep still or never get out alive. "I was informed subsequently that Stillwell was advised to keep still and that my successor would pardon him," Sulzer said. "The history of Stillwell is a remarkable chapter in the workings of the system with its sale of law and machinations of the chieftain and his emissaries."

Supporting his statement, Sulzer produced a letter purporting to have been written by Stillwell containing the following paragraph: "I've been promised an early release by the agents of the dominant powers, and word was sent me before the recent political agitation that the governor would be impeached and that my release would follow."

SHOT HIMSELF THROUGH HEAD

Hank Smith, San Diego Miner, Took His Own Life Here Last Night

Last night about 11 o'clock Hank Smith, a miner from San Diego, committed suicide at 503 Bush street. He came here Sunday from San Diego, where he had roomed with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kerr. Kerr rented 503 Bush street a few days ago, and Sunday Smith and Mrs. Kerr came up.

Smith's bank-book shows that he has $1186 on deposit in the Bank of Commerce & Trust Co. at San Diego. He had suffered a good deal from asthma and rheumatism but Mr. and Mrs. Kerr had never heard him say anything about killing himself.

In taking his life, Smith used a revolver, sending a bullet through his right ear.

MAY APPEAL RINDGE CASE

Attorney General Must Decide; Heirs May Bar Trails to Keep Homesteaders Out

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Special Prosecutor H. L. Dunnigan said in the matter of the government case against the Rindge estate, decided by Federal Judge Bean against the government will be put up to Attorney General McReynolds. The case may be appealed to the supreme court, thus continuing injunctions against the Rindge heirs from closing roads across the Rindge estate in the Santa Monica mountains and preventing the access of homesteaders in the mountains. Unless appealed, the heirs may bar the trails. Attorney General McReynolds must decide.

Albert Fuller Asks Permission to Buy Land from Crawford Estate

It will take full steam ahead if the superior court manages to complete conclusions in the suit brought to purge the Great Register in time for the dry and wet election at Anaheim on Nov. 6.

Three actions have been brought attacking the registration of 156 persons. These suits were brought by the drys, with Attorneys Walter Eden and E. E. Keech representing them.

In the first action, in which Edward M. Schlatter is plaintiff, fifty-three defendants are named. This morning a demurrer was filed for forty-one defendants by Attorneys H. C. Head of Santa Ana and Roger C. Dutton of Anaheim. The usual grounds of demurrer were alleged, with the more specific allegation that the complaint in declaring that some of the defendants are unable to read the constitution is ambiguous in that it does not state what constitution is meant.

This demurrer will come up for hearing on Friday, Oct. 31. The judge must give the defendants time to answer, and the case must be set for trial and heard, all before Nov. 6, which is a busy day for the court. The suit is going to have any bearing on the Anaheim election. The first action may be completed, but it is as though the second and third suits, which over 100 registrations are attacked, stand a chance of being tried before the day closes.

County District Attorney West, appearing for County Clerk Williams, filed answers in the three cases. The answers merely state that the names as alleged do appear upon the Great Register. The actions are civil actions, and the district attorney and county clerk will take no part in the trial. The Great Register will be made to conform to the ruling of the superior court.

Suit for Divorce
Frankie West has brought suit for divorce against C. Clifford West. H. C. Head is attorney for the plaintiff.

Case Dismissed
An action brought by O. Graham against L. Bressel to settle partnership differences over a dairy at Stanton has been dismissed.

Want Him Present
The Board of Supervisors has received a letter from Hugh C. Gibson, chief probation officer of Los Angeles county, asking that this county send Probation Officer Scott to the conference of probation officers and juvenile court judges to be held in Los Angeles on Jan. 21-23.

Cross-Complaint
An answer and cross-complaint were filed yesterday afternoon by Attorney H. C. Head for the defendant in the suit brought by C. S. Head against the Harper Fruit Co. The plaintiff alleges that several thousand dollars is due him for commissions on purchases of oranges for the defendant. The cross-complaint comes back with a demand for $500, alleging that Head severed his contract with the firm.

Buy the Ranch
A petition for an order of sale has been filed in the Will C. Crawford estate. The court is asked to permit the sale of forty acres, No. 65, block 10, Irvine subdivision, to Albert Fuller for $21,013.13.

Dispute Account
Today Judge West is hearing testimony in the contested final account in the estate of Richard T. Harris, pioneer. The widow, Mrs. Maria L. Harris, put in a final account showing about $5500 in the estate. Mrs. Clara G. Fulson, a sister of Harris, of Garden Grove put in an objection, stating that as an heir she is entitled to one-fourteenth of the estate, and that the account did not show as belonging to the estate promissory notes aggregating $42,500, 500 shares of the stock of the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Co., seventeen shares of the Griffith Lumber Co., $4935 in a bank and $1000 in Santa Ana Hospital Association stock. Williams & Rutan are attorneys for Mrs. Fulson and Scarborough & Forgy for Mrs. Harris. Mrs. Harris in her testimony has shown that the various notes and certificates of stock were issued to "R. T. Harris or Maria L. Harris," and that she claimed them as her separate property.

Homesteads Filed
Yesterday declarations of homesteads were recorded by Mrs. Franje West, lot 2, block 8, South Side addition, Santa Ana, value $2500; by Lizzie M. Skinner on lot 14, block A, Noah Palmer tract, $2500; by Joan A. Hughes on fifteen acres at Villa Park, value $2,000.

Justice Cox Hears Unusual
Suit Over a Grocery Bill of $54.45

Justice Cox has completed taking evidence in an unusual suit over a grocery bill.

The principal question involved is: Shall McNatt of Huntington Beach pay C. H. Howard, grocer, $54.45 on a grocery bill contracted by Olive Gray McNatt before she married McNatt? The plaintiff declares that some time after the marriage, the grocer insisted upon payment, and that McNatt agreed to pay the bill if Howard did not prosecute the case. T. W. Wells, representing Howard, takes the view that that promise makes McNatt responsible. The bill was not paid within the time agreed upon and action was brought. Attorney Scott represented the defendant. Justice Cox has the case under advisement.

For Stealing Walnuts
Marcias Rodriguez and Francisco Hernandez, Anaheim Mexicans, were sent to jail today for Anaheim for stealing $17 worth of walnuts from O. W. Lillie's orchard on Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton.

AMUSEMENTS

In a class by themselves are the "Mozart Ideals" in motion pictures, affording as they do a liberal education in travel and study.

After the welcome and warm reception of the splendid program given last week and at the earnest solicitation of friends in Santa Ana, Mrs. Mozart has consented to give a return presentation of her fine pictures and will offer another program at the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. Mrs. Mozart has between four and five hundred of these splendid educational, historical, industrial, scenic and delightfully interesting film subjects from which to select her programs.

An entirely new bill will be carefully chosen from among these reels to make up her program to be presented on these evenings.

The films to be shown on this return engagement are promised to be full of vital interest and will sustain the same high standard as those shown you last week. The pictures present travel in all parts of the world, as well as the processes of great industries in our own and foreign countries. The pictures in lighter vein will provide the best of clean, wholesome entertainment. A better program is promised if possible than the ones already seen and we are sure you will greatly enjoy seeing the new program of pictures.

HAPPENINGS IN ROME

(By Henry Wood.)

ROME, Oct. 2.—At 72 years of age, nearly twice that at which Dr. Ossler would have shelved him in one of Italy's antiquity museums, Premier Giolitti has just turned the shrewdest trick of his long career. "The Iron Man of Italy" is the title by which Giolitti is known at home, albeit he is known by it rather fondly. The history of his three terms as prime minister has ever been the history of a dictatorship. King, Parliament and cabinet have alike been his servants, and whenever reference has been made to the "government" it has always been tacitly understood that this was merely the synonym for "Giolitti."

And yet, Giolitti has ever faded his dictatorship acceptable. He has always demonstrated himself equal to any crisis that has arisen and this has been sufficient to establish him with the Italian nation at large. Admittedly, they say, it is a great convenience when some menace threatens the nation not to have to worry about it. It is much easier merely to say: "Oh, Giolitti will find a way." And now it develops that Giolitti is just as resourceful in finding a way to save himself as he is in finding a way to save the nation. For months his ministry has admittedly been in peril. Just at the moment, however, when his downfall seemed inevitable, a momentary change of his lifelong policy saved him. For a brief moment he relaxed his iron hand, he gave his opponents all the rope they wanted, and with it, as he unquestionably had foreseen they would do, they successfully hanged themselves.

Since the close of the war last year between Italy and Turkey more or less opposition has developed to Giolitti's conduct of the colony-grabbing enterprise. There was heavy loss of life and heavy expenditures of money. This discontent the Socialists were quick to turn to their advantage as they alone opposed the war. They aligned with themselves dissatisfied elements of all the other political parties and began at once a campaign for the overthrow of the Giolitti ministry at the next election. Success seemed practically certain. With the strong organization which the socialists have ever had in Italy, with the discontent following the war, there was added one more element in their favor that seemed to make the moment the psychological one in the history of Italian Socialism. At the coming election, 8,000,000 new voters, nearly all coming from the working classes, which are amenable to the doctrines of Socialism, were to vote for the first time.

It was this combination of circumstances that to the Italian public at large made the downfall of Giolitti seem inevitable. The public, however, had not remembered the prime minister himself. In August a strike was begun by the metal workers at Milan, and urged on by the Socialist leaders. From a metal workers' strike it spread rapidly to a city-wide strike, with all industry paralyzed, with the streets barricaded, and with the troops patrolling every inch of the city.

Then, as a final proof of their power, the Socialist leaders called for a nation-wide strike of sympathy. It was ordered, begun, and for a time seemed effective. At once Giolitti saw his opportunity when he was called upon to arbitrate. Arbitration would certainly mean the end of the strike and partial victory for the strikers and Socialist leaders. Without arbitration, Giolitti knew the strike would fall—there was always his iron hand to put it down. With the strike a failure, Giolitti would be certain of the undoing of the Socialist leaders who had ordered it. The "Man of Iron" therefore neither arbitrated nor crushed the strikers. He merely replied to the arbitration request with a very diplomatic note in which he deplored greatly the industrial damage being done to the country, but pointing out that the strike was so manifestly more of a political than an industrial one that he felt it would be in the interest of the political freedom of the strikers if he interfered. He suggested, however, that the prefects of each province might act as arbitrators.

To these prefects appeal at once was made. The prefects, however, who are appointed by Giolitti, had a little difficulty in seeing that if the situation was too delicate for Giolitti to handle, it was too delicate for them. Phone 497J.

They discreetly declined to interfere. Giolitti took no iron measure to settle the strike. The strikers continued striking to their hearts' content, and then the strike failed utterly. The workmen then turned on the Socialist leaders.

With the Socialist organization thus completely worsted, Giolitti, who has a right to fix the date of the primary elections, set them for early October. The intervening time was admittedly too short to permit the Socialists to repair the damage that had been done to their organization, and the more profound leaders of the movement have conceded that they have lost an opportunity which will not come again in fifty years to elect a Socialist majority to parliament. The parliament expected to be elected will, it is believed, at its first sitting, pass a resolution of confidence in the Giolitti ministry.

RITUAL MURDER ATTRACTS NOTICE

No Trial Since Dreyfus Case
Creates Such Interest as Beilis Charge

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Perhaps no trial since the Dreyfus case in Paris has created such general interest in Germany as that of the Jew, Mendel Beilis, on the ridiculous charge of ritual murder. The very fact that it takes the mind back to the days of the middle ages, has caused thousands of people of other faiths and no faiths at all, in Germany to evince the keenest interest in the daily newspaper reports from Kiev of a trial that seems as much out of place in the new century as would the "witch trials" at Salem, Mass., two centuries ago.

It is not generally known that the Beilis trial is the fifth "ritual murder" case charged against the Jews in the last 25 years. Invariably these charges have been the climax to a wave of Anti-Semitism, or were brought to rekindle the fires of hatred against the Jews when persecutions were on the wane.

"It is time to put an end to this grotesque belief and charge against the Jews, which is as unworthy of the civilization and culture of today as it would be to try witches," said Dr. Paul Nathan, one of the leading Jewish philanthropists in Berlin.

According to reports received in Berlin, there is a considerable exodus of Jews from Kiev, Odessa and Warsaw toward Germany. It is feared that the Beilis trial will be made the incentive for another era of Jewish persecution in Russia. Prof. Sikorsky of Kiev University declared, as a witness at the Beilis trial, his belief that ritual murders are common among the Jews. A deposition from the Archimandrite Ammosius was read into the record telling of many such murders of which he had heard, but mentioning none of his actual knowledge. Although the Beilis prosecution was supposed to have rested its case, orders have been received from St. Petersburg to bolster it up further, the higher authorities apparently feeling that the showing is weak thus far, and that there is some chance of acquittal.

PRETTY CHARMER PROVES TO BE BOY

Seven-Year-Old Child Exhibited as Dwarf Woman Found With Snakes

CINCINNATI, Oct. 28.—A pretty 7-year-old boy, exhibited at street fairs as a "dwarf woman snake charmer," by a man claiming to be his father, disappeared from Loveland, Ohio, yesterday, together with the father, James Jackson, who was under $500 bond to appear at Magistrate Stevenson's court to answer a charge of exhibiting a minor. The bond was declared forfeited when the man and child failed to appear.

Mrs. Spencer, chief probation officer of Clermont county, discovered yesterday morning that the "woman" was a pretty boy clad in dresses. She found the "charmer" sitting in the center of the tent, surrounded by crawling reptiles. The arrest of Jackson followed. He asserted that he was a widower, a native of Virginia, and father of the "charmer." The boy's name was given as "James Franklin Jackson, aged 7."

Jackson's show was in Loveland for several days. Interested women told the probation officer of the remarkable little "woman" and the investigation followed.

Hurt at Balboa

Orange News: Keith Trickey, little three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Trickey, of this city, was painfully hurt at Balboa yesterday. He fell over an embankment in front of his uncle's home and struck his head on a rock, making an ugly gash.

The child was at first thought to be seriously hurt, but after he had been given medical attention in Santa Ana, his injuries were pronounced less serious. He will be all right in a short time.

BODY OF BOY IS NOT FOUND

Mother and Son Were at Landing Awaiting Return of Dr. Frost

The body of Lowell S. Frost, aged 7, the boy who was drowned at Corona Del Mar yesterday, has not been recovered.

The body of Mrs. Margaret Frost, the mother, who was drowned in her attempt to save the boy, was brought here by Coroner Winbigger, and this morning was sent to Hollywood.

The body of Mrs. Frost was brought here yesterday afternoon by Coroner Winbigger.

From the information received by the coroner, Mrs. Frost and her two children, a son, Lowell Sydney Frost, and a daughter, went to the landing on the Corona Del Mar side while Dr. Frost went across to Balboa to get the mail and some groceries. The family had been spending a month at Corona Del Mar. The nurse was at the hotel when the tragedies occurred. The family lived at 6404 Hollywood boulevard, Hollywood.

After the boy fell into the water and his mother plunged after him, the little girl ran to the hotel and told the nurse, who telephoned to Balboa. The launch Paloma with William Norton, Frank Vallerie and Floyd Hemstreet in it, went to the entrance of the bay, and found the woman's body. The woman and child were separated when they were taken against a point of rocks.

Those in the boat did not know at that time that a boy had been lost also, and they returned to Balboa.

Dr. Frost was at the Balboa landing, ready to assist should the services of a physician be needed. It was his wife's body that was taken from the boat.

Mrs. Margaret Frost was 29 years old.

REDLANDS WANTS ROBERTS

Dispatches from San Bernardino a few days ago announced that State Treasurer Roberts had stated positively that he is not a candidate for congress. The Redlands Facts, however, is not disposed to take no for an answer and voicing the sentiment of the orange growers of that city makes the following presentation of the strength of Mr. Roberts as a candidate:

"Whether there be truth, or no truth, in the report emanating from Sacramento to the effect that State Treasurer Roberts is being groomed for congress from the eleventh district, the fact is indisputable that Roberts would fill the position splendidly, says the San Bernardino Index, and the Facts 'unanimously' concurs. He is the kind of a man required. He is broad gauge, well posted as to the needs of the district, knows much of political procedure, and, withal, is aggressive, determined, energetic and loyal. Roberts is a fighter, and especially under present conditions California needs fighting men in both senate and house.

"Californiaans have, as a rule, already seen their folly in electing Democrats to congress. The greatest citrus district of the state sent a Democrat to congress, the greatest raisin district in the state sent a Democratic congressman. And when the importer (for the first time given a voice in the deliberations of the tariff framers) appeared before the tariff committee they pointed to the fact that the California citrus and raisin industries did not need and did not want protection by a tariff, for had they not sent to congress representatives pledged to tariff destruction.

"The very fact that free trade congressmen had been elected by the California districts did more than anything else to weaken and break down the brave fight the California fruit interests made to have the old tariff schedules retained at the old rate. No matter how 'big' the Democratic congressman might have measured mentally, when he began to plead for maintenance of the tariff in commodities in his district, his arguments were nullified when Wilson, or Underwood, some colleague, or one of the importers' clique pointed a finger at the congressman and said:

"But you! You are a Democrat. Your tariff platform said that the protective tariff was unconstitutional and to be destroyed. Knowing that, your district sent you to congress. By that act it showed it wanted no protective tariff."

"And for these reasons it is imperative that we of California are represented in congress by men who are candidates upon a protective tariff platform; fighting men who will stand by their guns; fighting men who are brave and loyal. Keep your eye out for this kind of men. They're the kind we want."

The Riverside Press concurs in all that the Facts says but insists that the vital question is what will San Diego do about it? Riverside has had some experience with the solidarity of the vote in that county and the Press can see no signs of any change in the determination of the people of that county to dictate who the congressman shall be.

Commenting on the recent Press editorial (reprinted a day or two ago by the Register) on Mr. Roberts' candidacy the San Bernardino Sun says: "That move by the state Progressive machine to push State Treasurer E. D. Roberts into the congressional campaign, which was turned loose at Sacramento a week ago, has been widely discussed in the eleventh district. That the plan was worked out in the inner council of the state administration and put out to test sentiment, goes without saying. Every symptom argues to that end. The comments have been widely varying, some of them sane, others partisan, and at least one that strongly suggests the language used by Shakespeare in 'Hamlet' where he says: 'No, let the candied tongue lick absurd pomp; And crook the pregnant hinges of the knee. That thrift may follow fawning.'"

"One of those that goes quite directly to the pith of the situation comes from the Riverside 'Press,' which seems to have profited by the philosophy there is in the proverb: 'Once bitten, twice shy.'"

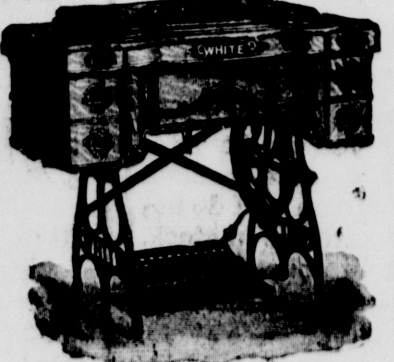

"Which is logical. The Sun declared two years ago when the apportionment bill had been passed at Sacramento, that it probably meant a congressman from San Diego for the next ten years.

"We agree with the Press in its diagnosis of the present situation. No Republican outside of San Diego county, supported by a united Republican vote, has any guarantee of winning, and we doubt if he can have the hope of it."

UNITED STATES ARMY HAS NO RACE SUICIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—There is no race suicide in the United States army. This was demonstrated when the army transport Sherman, from Manila to Honolulu, came into port with its decks thronged with children and their nurses. The infant brigade, ranging from children in arms to big boys and girls, numbered nearly eighty.

The favorite was Ruth Graham, the eighteen-month-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. C. D. Graham of the army medical corps, who have been stationed at Fort Shafter, Honolulu. Ruth is the champion child swimmer of Waikiki.

Resolved, That Orange County Is Good Enough For Me

BY ADDIE HULL-DOERR.

When I have a ride in any part of Orange county, I get so intoxicated with joy over the glories I see, that I sometimes wonder how Heaven will affect me.

One day, when October was young, my John had to go out into the country, down Old Newport way, and he took me along to "help" him. Such signs of prosperity all along the way made me forget sickness and captivity and feel only happiness.

Loads of sugar beets looked so beautiful to me. I did not see homely beets, but beheld crystal clear sugar surrounded by gold (dollars). Then I saw happy cattle feeding and fattening on the beet tops in the fields, and thought of the dairy cows enjoying the good feed the sugar beets yield.

Next would come wagons loaded with dry lima beans, all sacked for shipping; and they spoke of a large addition to Orange county's pot o' gold. Loads of baled straw told of more good cheap feed for our dairy cows and beef cattle.

And the alfalfa fields just filled my soul with joy! Whenever we passed a load of alfalfa hay, I would do a deep breathing exercise—just as I always did when a child, in spite of a friend's warning that to inhale fresh cut alfalfa hay would give a person hay fever. I never did and I never shall believe that.

When I saw many large cans of pure, health-giving milk being unloaded at a Pacific Electric station, I thought of how gloriously we (Orange county farmers and I) were administering to thirsty Los Angeles. What would she do without us?

Here and there a farmer would come out onto the highway in his auto, going to town on a hurry-up errand.

I could but notice and admire the fine teams of horses all the farmers were using. Not a "plug" did we see, except those driven by some Mexicans. Fine horses and cows, comfortable homes and automobiles are the rule for farmers here.

I would write in my little book:

Resolved, That Orange county is good enough for me!

THE CITRUS FRUIT INDUSTRY

Department of Service to Citrus Fruit Growers, Conducted Especially for the Register.

Copyrighted by Reginald Brinsmead.

CULTURAL METHODS AS A FACTOR IN FROST PROTECTION

The importance of having the citrus tree in the best possible condition to meet any cold snaps it may experience during the winter months cannot be overestimated. The cultural methods used, or orchard handling, during the late summer and autumn months are the key to the shape the tree will be in during the critical period. As in the case of all cultivated trees, fruits or plants, the orange and lemon are grown under essentially artificial conditions, and to a very great extent the habits of growth of the tree are capable of control by the system of orchard management employed.

It is frequently found that adjacent orchards, even adjoining trees on different groves, show varying degrees of frost damage—on the one side of the property line serious damage to fruit and trees, on the other side little or no damage. A careful study of the methods used in the care of such orchards many times shows these conditions to be largely due to the differing cultural methods employed.

It is an accepted fact that trees or plants having the freest flow of sap during a period of low temperature always show the most frost damage. This is demonstrated in the case of young growth on the citrus tree which will be killed where the balance of the tree is not hurt in the slightest degree, an abundance of sap being present in the young growth, while the main body of the tree is somewhat dormant.

Any orchard operations, then, which will tend to induce young growth, a heavy flow of sap or "late hardening" of the tree at this critical time must be classed as dangerous wherever there is the slightest fear of frost damage. The best cultural methods under these conditions are those tending to "harden" the tree, or decrease the flow of sap, without working damage in any way during the important fall growth period. This preparation of the tree in readiness for any possible cold snap is of great importance:

(1) By lessening the risk of frost damage to the tree.
(2) By assisting in maturing the fruit and so increasing the oil content of the skin, thus giving greater frost resistance—this applying more particularly to the orange.
(3) By resting the tree, so far as it is possible to do so, by inducing as near a dormant condition as can be found at any time in a thrifty citrus tree.

We have frequently observed that trees situated on low, cool lands will show less frost damage to the trees themselves than those growing in warmer locations, and which have not experienced nearly as low a temperature as the former; while the fruit on the "low" orchards may be seriously injured and that on the more favorably located trees little hurt or quite undamaged. In the one case climatic conditions, cooler nights, have tended to an early reduction in the flow of sap; in the other, warmer nights and different cultural methods have maintained the flow.

It is true that this demonstrates the fact that a dormant condition of the tree, while it will lessen, will not prevent crop damage from excessive cold; but on the other hand, apart from the varying degree of damage in adjacent orchards noted above, undamaged trees will as a rule produce the better crops the following year, apart from any crop damage they may have sustained, as compared with trees showing any considerable hurt.

The importance of having the tree in the proper condition through the winter months cannot then be overlooked. It is a matter quite aside from any system of frost protection employed, which is solely a question of using the best method available of raising the temperature above the danger point; but we do not believe that the degree of success to be attained by any protective system largely hinges on the condition of the trees at the time of frost.

The methods to be used in obtaining the desired results will be found to vary with the season, location and condition of the trees; but generally speaking they consist of withholding more than the necessary amount of water required by the tree to maintain it in a thrifty condition from the latter half of September until early in November. Heavy applications of fertilizer or manure must also be avoided during the late summer and early fall months; as well as any heavy pruning during this period, likely to promote young growth and free flow of sap at a dangerous time.

In following these methods care must be taken to see that the trees at no time show heavy "wilt," and that sufficient water is applied to maintain them in a thrifty and healthy condition. As the danger of frost approaches more water can be applied, but it is important to note that trees which have been heavily irrigated just prior to a heavy frost frequently show considerable damage, being full of water at the time. On the other hand running water in the orchard at the time of low temperature is often of great value.

There is much to learn with regard to the effect which different degrees of temperature and varying climatic conditions, both before and after a frost, have on both fruit and trees; such as the length of time different degrees of maturity will withstand a low temperature without damage; the best conditions to be sought for during the thawing out process without excessive damage to tree or fruit; the effect of soil conditions, of heavy and light foliage and many other matters bearing on the amount of frost damage experienced. All these matters call for investigation, and without doubt invaluable deductions can be drawn from the assembling of reliable data on the subject.

IMMENSE LOSS IN SALMON FISHING

Dominion Fisheries Department Investigating Damage Done Industry by R. R.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 28.—The Dominion fisheries experts report a loss estimated at four to five million dollars annually to the British Columbia salmon-fishing industry, and probably the total disappearance of the famous "big run" of salmon every four years, as one of the startling results of the construction of the new Canadian Northern transcontinental line through the Fraser river canyon.

The facts of the case and the extent of the damage done are now being investigated by the fisheries department here, with a view to co-operating with the British Columbia fisheries department in taking all possible remedial measures.

In August last, at the time of the big quadrennial run of salmon up the Fraser river to the spawning grounds, it was discovered that literally millions of salmon were being dammed back from further ascent of the river beyond the narrow pass at Hell's Gate, where the Canadian Northern railroad construction, combined with unusually high water in the Fraser, had altered the currents and eddies in the river from previous years. In consequence millions of the big four-year-old fish turned back and died without spawning.

The difference in the value of the catch between the "big year" and the "off years" is at least $4,000,000 or $5,000,000. As a result of what happened this summer there will henceforth be no "big years."

NURSES GRADUATE

Interesting Exercises for Five Young Ladies Devote Themselves to Noble Profession

Odd Fellows hall was the scene last night of the graduation exercises of the Santa Ana Hospital, when five young ladies were given their diplomas and will give their services in a noble profession. Those who have acquitted themselves well during their course are Misses Margaret Walkinshaw, Elizabeth Stohr, Carrie Morse, Anna Liebermann and Gertrude Fomers.

The hall was prettily trimmed for the occasion, the class color, gold, being apparent in the lovely chrysanthemums, which were combined with palms and ferns in an effective scheme. There was a good attendance.

The program was opened with an instrumental solo by Mrs. Alba Padgugam and Rev. J. A. Stevenson of the First Presbyterian Church delivered the address of the evening, speaking in an impressive manner to the nurses.

Two of the babies of the institution, little Elizabeth Bruner and Merle Wilson, occupied prominent places on the program, the former giving a song and the other a recitation. Mrs. James S. Rice of Tustin, who returned from Long Beach to participate in the program, gave two lovely solos. Mrs. Rice has sung at all the commencement exercises and the program would not seem complete without her.

Before presenting the diplomas, Dr. C. D. Ball spoke touchingly to the young ladies of their work and their duties and the program closed with the benediction by Rev. Stevenson.

The graduates were presented with lovely flowers by their hosts of friends and after the program they repaired to Taylor's hall, where, with the matron, Miss Katherine Rutherford, and last year's class they enjoyed a banquet. The table decorations were in gold, fluffy chrysanthemums being used.

After the excellent menu had been enjoyed an alumnae was formed with Miss Irene Miller, president; Miss Winifred Nicholson, vice-president, and Miss Martha Schildmeyer, secretary and treasurer.

Served Wild Duck Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Warner were hosts Saturday noon at a dinner, at which delicious wild duck was the central feature and was cooked to a finish. Chrysanthemums were used to brighten the table, at which plates were laid for the Warner family and their guests, Robert Dabbs and his sons, Charles and Billy.

After dinner the party enjoyed the football game between Redlands University and Santa Ana high school.

Pleasant Intermediate Social
The intermediates of the United Presbyterian church had a very pleasant social Saturday evening in the basement of the church. Yellow and white chrysanthemums, yellow pumpkins and candles made effective decorations and the time was happily spent with Hallowe'en games.

Clever refreshments were served in three courses, the first being hot chocolate, sandwiches and apples. The second was yellow and white brick cream and cake and the third each guest toasted marshmallows over a lighted candle fastened in a plate.

Thimble Club Met
The Merry Thimble Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Bert Clement on French street last Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent with needlework and chatting. An interesting feature was fortune telling by Mrs. Boyce.

Before the guests departed, the charming hostess served refreshments of coffee, sandwiches and cake. Cecil Bruner roses were used for decoration.

Interesting Wedding in China
The Springing, Oh Sun, has a very interesting account of the marriage of Miss Clara Hill Doubler and Edward Hartman Munson, of Grinnell, Iowa, at Foo Chow, China.

The Register has mentioned the wedding in its social columns, the affair being of interest here, as the groom is the son of C. R. Munson of this city.

The bride was a teacher in the Foo Chow girls' college of the American board, and the groom has served as Y.M.C.A. student secretary in Shanghai during the past year. Mr. and Mrs. Munson will reside in Foo Chow.

BANQUETTED ORCHESTRA

Sunday School Board First Methodist Church Hosts Last Night

Last night being the regular date for the Sunday school board meeting of the First Methodist church, the members planned to extend a courtesy to the church orchestra at the same time. A sumptuous banquet was therefore planned and the many good things were served before the business was taken up.

Long tables were set in the dining room in the shape of a letter "H," the cross table being adorned with huge bouquets of white and yellow chrysanthemums, which were laid along the center of the other tables. The menu included the following:

Grapes
Potato Caps Filled with Peas
Veal Pates, Cranberry Jelly
Fruit Salad
Bread and Butter
Home Made Cake, Brick Ice Cream
Coffee

After the meal had been done full justice to the pastor, Rev. E. J. Inwood, acted as toastmaster, the subjects and their givers being as follows: "A Boost," Prof. E. H. McMath; "Backing," W. P. Coffman; "Quality," E. P. Jayne; "In the Beginning," Mrs. C. W. Burns. Prof. Francis Haynes, director of the orchestra, responded to all the good things said of the players and expressed their thanks.

Covers were laid for about seventy. After adjournment the board took up its regular routine work.

For Young Architect
Miss Bessie Hill was hostess last evening to a party of young friends, which was a farewell to Tom O'Donnell, who leaves soon for Cleveland, Ohio, where he will pursue his profession. Mr. O'Donnell has been connected with Fred Eley during his stay here and has made many friends. The affair was also in the nature of a reunion, the young people having enjoyed several house parties, two having been given last week at Laguna in honor of Mr. O'Donnell.

Last evening the time was spent with chat and the singing of popular songs. A dainty collation was served, a clever idea being carried out in the table decorations. Mr. O'Donnell, as his name signifies, is a loyal Irishman and emblems and colors of the old sod were used. Ferns and ribbons decked the table and a large basket occupied the center with lovely roses, snakes, lizards, toads and tiny pigs were scattered about; shamrocks trimmed the place cards, almonds were held in green baskets; there were shamrock mints and the leeks were in the shape of Irish potatoes and looked very natural.

The young people present included Misses Hazel Rowley, Nellie Bacon, Ruth Larson, Mary Shrewsbury, Adeline Hill; Messrs. Jasper Osborn, Tom O'Donnell, John Fleming and John Hawley.

Her Seventh Birthday
Little Miss Evelyn Babbitt was hostess yesterday to a number of her little friends, the occasion being in honor of her seventh birthday. The little folks gathered after school, the invitations reading from 2:30 until 4:30 o'clock. The day being perfect the children played games out of doors and made merry until called to partake of the dainty refreshments prepared for them.

A table had been set on the lawn and jack-o'-lanterns hung about. The center of attraction was a pretty cake with seven tapers. With this were served pink lemonade and candies.

The little guests numbered Kathleen Trago, Jean Ross, Elizabeth Beal, Eva Shipley, Elva Chapman, Esther Loerch, Mabel Miller; Masters Forest Haver of Fullerton, Burton Kraschel and Worth Babbitt.

Parent-Teacher Federation Meets
The City Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the assembly hall of the old high school. The executive committee will meet at 3 o'clock in the principal's office in the same building. Reports will be given by the presidents of the various associations.

Will Confer Degree
A party of Royal and Select Masters of this city will go over to Fullerton tomorrow evening to confer the degree. A supper will be served at six o'clock. This will be the second time the degree has been conferred upon Fullerton Masons.

ETHICS OF CLOSED SHOP

Rev. Fred Staff Read Interesting Paper Before Monday Club

The Monday Club at its regular meeting last evening listened to a paper of more than ordinary interest, given by the Rev. Fred Staff, pastor of the Congregational Church. The subject of the paper was "The Ethics of the Closed Shop," and the value of Mr. Staff's treatment of the theme consisted largely in the fact that he spoke from intimate first-hand acquaintance with trade union methods and principles, for Mr. Staff in his earlier days had been a member of a trade union and had served as one of its officers and taken part in arbitration conferences, with employers and still carries in his pocket his trade union membership card.

Mr. Staff's discussion was a defense of the ethical principle involved in the closed shop and he showed in a lucid and forceful way how the same principle lies at the foundation of every form of organization in our varied social and industrial life. By way of introduction he outlined the history of the relations of capital and labor in this country, pointing out three general attitudes of employers toward labor unions: (1) Uncompromising hostility; (2) tolerance without recognition; and (3) recognition and cooperation.

The speaker clearly recognized the enormous issues that have developed in trade union methods and policy, which he in no wise condoned, but expressed the belief that these evils and wrongs were the mistakes of democracy in general. The forces that created the irresponsible labor agitator are at bottom the same forces in our democracy which create a Lorrimer in national politics or the irresponsible "boss" in city government. They are the inevitable incidents of our experiment in democracy.

The ethical principle of the closed shop is the same that underlies the protective tariff. The manufacturer desires protection against the cheap goods of foreign lands. The law which requires physicians to take an examination before being admitted to practice in this state involves the same principle. It is the same in the legal profession. There is everywhere an effort on the part of organizations to protect themselves from the "scab." The labor union feels as do all other organizations, that no one should be allowed to reap the benefits of organization unless they contribute to its up-building and strength.

The discussion which followed was lively and interesting and developed a variety of views and attitudes toward the labor problem. In the discussion the interesting fact was disclosed that three members of the Monday Club have held membership in unions and still retain renewal cards.

School Exhibit of Educational Value
The school exhibit, which was opened to the public last Thursday afternoon, continues to be of interest to those who are taking the time to drop in and view the many time-worn, cherished articles, some of which show a more remarkable state of preservation than others.

Taking the exhibit as a whole, it is, without question, the most interesting and educational of any ever shown in Santa Ana.

W. W. Hoy, assistant county surveyor, has among the high school exhibit as rare and wonderful specimens from China, Japan and India as some found in the Boston or other museums. Mr. Hoy will lecture on the Indian exhibit tomorrow evening. Those who have not already heard him should not fail to hear him at the old high school building.

Rehearsal Tomorrow Evening
The Choral Society will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Congregational church for rehearsal. Mr. Revell, director of the chorus, announces that the music for "Hiawatha" has arrived and work will begin tomorrow.

For Former Pastors
Rev. W. R. Thornton and Rev. W. A. Youngman, former pastors of the M. E. Church, South, of this city, and their wives were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wavner of North Bush street at a dinner last Saturday. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

Coffee
This is the perfect combination:
(1) Fine coffee and fresh; (2) proper brewing; (3) cream.

The first item means Schilling's Best—in aroma-tight cans, ever-fresh.
1-lb. 2-lb and 2½-lb cans; cleanly granulated; 24c a pound—moneyback.

Three Natal Days Honored
A happy party of neighbors and friends gathered yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. E. Harvey, 806 F street, to celebrate three birthdays.

Her husband's mother, Mrs. E. Harvey, has seen sixty years of life. Mrs. Fred Price forty-five and Mrs. Harvey thirty.

Three large cakes told the dates and the years, one bearing sixty tapers, another forty-five and another thirty. These were much admired and later cut and served the guests with fruitade. The candles were red, white and blue.

"Grandma" Harvey received a number of remembrances from her friends.

The ladies occupied the time with needlework and conversation, those attending being Mesdames E. Harvey, Will Harvey, Wilmet, Dan McGuire, Fred Price, E. H. Morrison, Wiseman, Potter, Wright, Cubbon, Will Smith, Langley, Lentz and Cook; Misses Claire Wiseman and Berge.

City Superintendents Meet
There will be a meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the United Presbyterian church of the city superintendents of Sunday schools.

Mission Meeting Tomorrow
The ladies of the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. J. Houghton, 515 South Sycamore street, for their regular monthly tea service. The ladies of the congregation are cordially invited.

Pleasant Sunday Luncheon
Mrs. E. D. Cooke and Mrs. Fannie Wares of East First street were hostesses at a delightful four-course luncheon Sunday afternoon. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Innes and son, Welles, also a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Innes from Riverside, who is their guest; Rev. and Mrs. De Wolfe.

One table decorations were chrysanthemums, oleanders and ferns.

Informal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Emory Ratcliff were host and hostess Saturday evening to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McMath and little daughter, Miss Geneva, at a 6 o'clock dinner. The table decorations were chrysanthemums. When the dinner was finished the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in social conversation.

Personals

BIBLE CONFERENCE MET IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

Fine Addresses Given by Dr. Torrey, Rev. H. C. Waddell---Big Attendance Last Night

The first day of the Bible Conference now in session at the Immanuel Baptist church, which began yesterday, was most satisfactory to those in charge. The afternoon meeting was opened with silent prayer, followed by the hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer." Motteos for the conference were applied by the pastor, William Thomas, in Eph. 6:18, Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and all supplication for all saints. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. L. C. Samson. The address of Rev. H. C. Waddell of Los Angeles, on "Fellowship With Christ in Prayer Ideals" was a most appropriate and excellent one based on John 17:20-21, Neither pray I for these alone, but for all them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they may all be one--that the world may believe that thou hast sent me. The believers' great privilege of fellowship with Christ in prayer, who was Himself a man of prayer, was a precious one. No one ever failed in the Christian life who was faithful in the exercise of the prayer life. The true Fatherhood of God shown in the great Intercessory prayer of His son, which He is now, and has been, offering, all the years since His departure. The oneness of believers in the body of Christ, which is the church, has only been partially perceived by believers. The advantages gained in recent years by prayer have been such as to give great encouragement. Christ, who is the source of the prayer life, is also the surety for prevailing prayer. The secret of prevailing prayer-- receiving the Word--separation from the world. One must fight in these days for time to pray or lose its benefits. Prayer in the twentieth century must be accompanied by intense activity.

There was a large attendance at the night session. Owing to some delay in the car service from Los Angeles, Dr. Torrey and Dr. Pritchard changed places on the program. Dr. Torrey giving the first address after a song by Miss Annie MacLaren, a gifted Gospel singer, from the Bible Institute. Dr. Torrey launched quickly into his address on "The Holy Spirit Himself" by saying that the source of great misunderstanding today of the Holy Spirit and His work was that a great many failed to realize that the Holy Spirit was not an "it" but a real person. Not a mere "influence" but a living personality; that it was of the highest importance that this should be understood. The great question was not how I could get hold of the Spirit, but how the Holy Spirit could get hold of me; not how I can get more of the Spirit, which is a wrong conception, and often a source of spiritual pride, but how a real living person can so get control of me that I shall respond to His desires and will. That the Holy Spirit is a person is proved that the Bible ascribes to Him the characteristics of personality, which are knowledge, feeling and will. That the personality of the Spirit is revealed in the Old Testament in Gen. 26. Let us make man in OUR image, which also reveals Him as a part of the Trinity of the Godhead. The Holy Spirit is proved to be a person because He can be grieved, as is shown in Eph. 4:30, Grieve not the Holy Spirit. Can a Christian go to the theater? If you do the Holy Spirit goes with you, for he goes with every Christian. Is the theater so pure that it would not grieve him? Again the Holy Spirit as a person is a Comforter, who comes to abide in every Christian, so that there is no circumstance, no trial, no situation in which He is not there to help to uphold, to stand by.

After another song by Miss MacLaren, Dr. Pritchard spoke on "The Manna," as a type of the Word of God, a gift of God given under grace and not under law. That it was a divine gift, a human obligation, a test to prove them.

Dr. Pritchard spoke of the efforts of some of the Higher Critics to show that Manna was a natural production; for instance, a gum exuded from the Tamarisk tree that grew in the country. This was shown to be false by the very meaning of the word "Manna," which in Hebrew means "What is it?" They knew all about the product of the Tamarisk tree; they did not know what this was; proven false by the fact that it must be used at once, any left over would corrupt; that it melted when the sun was up; that twice as much fed, on the sixth day as on the preceding five, and that left over from the sixth day did not corrupt; by its abundance; that it was a perfect food. The central thought of the address was that as the Manna was a perfect food for the body, it could and did nourish the bodies for forty years, so it is a perfect type of God's word, which will nourish the life of the Christian; that as the Manna had to be gathered every day, so must the Christian feed on the Word every day.

This afternoon Rev. Waddell will continue his address on prayer under the topic of "Christian Success Through Secret Prayer," followed by Rev. Mark Lev, of Los Angeles.

Brother Lev is a Jew. Not many have had the privilege of hearing a believing Jew speak in testimony of His Elder Brother. He was born in Russia, in its southern metropolis, Odessa; was educated as an orthodox Jew and as a gentile, and practiced law in that country for a number of years. His address this afternoon on "The Perpetuity of Israel's National Privilege," and also tonight on "The Restoration and National Salvation of Israel" will be worth hearing. Dr. Torrey will speak again tonight on "The Holy Spirit convicting Men of Sin."

PANAMA CANAL, IT'S EFFECT THEME COMMERCIAL CONGRESS

Memorial Services Held Today Noon All Churches—Secretary Bryan to Lead Discussion

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 28.—The Panama Canal and its effect on the American South was the theme of speeches before the Southern Commercial Congress today. Memorial services were held in all of the churches at noon, at which prominent speakers eulogized the late Senator John Tyler Morgan, "the father of the Panama idea." Governor Major of Missouri, spoke at the First Baptist church, paying eloquent tribute to the Alabamian.

In the regular sessions of the congress, John H. Hasham, chairman of the royal commission on agricultural credit, Saskatchewan province, spoke on Canada's interest in the waterway. Senator Handoll of Louisiana, on the canal's effect on American river and harbor improvements; Senator Jacinto Ferreira de Cunha, consul general of Brazil, on commercial relations of South American nations with the United States; and Commissioner of Agriculture E. J. Watson of South Carolina, on what the commerce of the Panama Canal means to the South. Expectations of increased business from those interested in manufacturing and business as a result of the canal was expressed in addresses by Col. Harvie Jordan, president of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company; Bradford Knapp, in charge of the Department of Agriculture's special farmers' co-operative demonstration work; Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C.; J. Rice Smith, of Richmond, Va.; Representative Hobson, of Alabama; and John M. Parker, honorary president of the Southern Commercial Congress. Five minute "free forum" talks by delegates followed each set speech.

Tonight Secretary of State Bryan was scheduled to lead discussion of the Panama Canal from the standpoint of South and Central America. Director John Barrett of the Pan-American Union, the minister to Panama, the Peruvian minister, and the minister from Bolivia were scheduled to speak.

TREATMENT FOR GUMMOSIS OF LEMON TREES OUTLINED

The disease known as gummosis of lemon trees in California is characterized by the dying of areas of bark and the exudation of large quantities of gum above the bud union. That certain types of this disease can be induced in large healthy trees with cultures of fungi has been shown as the result of a series of inoculations during the past year. It was first found that typical cases of gummosis could be transmitted from diseased to healthy trees by inoculations with bits of discolored bark or wood cut out at the advancing margins of diseased areas. Bits of exuded gum or pieces of tissue near the center of the diseased areas already permeated with gum in most cases failed to transmit the disease.

In making a study of lemon gummosis in the orchards it was found that there were at least two forms of gummosis: one in which the dead bark remained hard without evidence of fungi during the progress of the disease, and one in which the dead bark was at first soft with a later development of fungi upon the surface during damp weather. By a series of inoculations with a number of organisms isolated from both types of the disease, it has been discovered that cultures of Phytophthora Sm. and Sm., the brown rot fungus, are capable of causing the former and that Botrytis vulgaris, the gray fungus, is capable of causing the latter form. These are two well known fungi causing rots in the packing houses.

It has long been recognized that the greater amount of gummosis of lemon trees appears to follow unfavorable soil and cultural conditions such as excessive moisture with the soil above the bud union, poorly drained or aerated land, etc., and methods of prevention have been worked out that have been quite successful in the hands of the best growers. These methods of prevention, such as keeping the soil from above the bud union, keeping it dug up around the crown, putting in lime in heavy soils, avoiding excessive moisture, using sour stock on heavy soils, planting high budded trees and planting them high for new orchards are extremely important. These precautions will largely avoid the conditions favorable for the growth and the infection of the fungi.

The brown rot fungus lives in the soil, especially in heavy soils, and its development is favored by excessive moisture, and infection of the lemon bark is favored by the bud union being buried, or kept damp.

There are, however, certain cases constantly occurring in spite of all the care that can be exercised. These may be treated as follows:

The treatment for the gummosis caused by these fungi is still somewhat in the experimental stage. All that can be said at present is that in several groves where the Bordeaux paste was used over a year ago the results appear very promising. This applies only to the lemon gummosis. It is too soon to say definitely as to the orange gum disease (Scaly Bark), except that two growers have told me since hearing of the Bordeaux paste treatment that they had used a somewhat similar mixture two years ago with good results and no injury to the trees.

We can say definitely that Bordeaux is one of the best fungicides known and that in a proportion even stronger than that given here it has resulted in no harm to the bark of trees.

Before applying the paste on lemon trees the bark that is dead to the wood should be removed to allow the Bordeaux to get in and kill out the infection. In case the outer bark is infected over a large area and the inner or cambium is still alive, the outer layer may be scraped off with a curved sharp tool made on purpose for this work, leaving the cambium covered by inner bark still attached. In this way the infection is killed and a new bark is built up under the Bordeaux. One must expect the gum to run out freely for several weeks or months after treatment. One should watch for the formation of new, healthy tissue, rather than the amount of gum that may run out after treatment. The gum that has formed under the bark beyond where any fungus has gone will continue to drain out. The gum itself does not as a rule have any infectious principle in it. The fungus is in the diseased bark at the junction of the live and dead tissue. The fungus does not manufacture the gum but causes the tree to produce it from its own products.

The formula for the Bordeaux

paste is as follows:

One pound of blue stone dissolved in one gallon of water in a wooden or earthen vessel by hanging it in the top of a sack. Two pounds of un-slaked lime, slaked in about one-half gallon of water. Stir together when cool, making a mixture about the consistency of whitewash. Apply with a brush.

It may also be applied to healthy bark as a preventive against new infections.

Plant Pathologist, State Commission of Horticulture, Whittier, Cal.

SIXTY MILES PIPE FOR WATER SYSTEM

Riverside Plans Important Features for Enlarged Municipal Plant

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 28.—Sixty miles of riveted steel pipe, one 3,000,000 and two 500,000-gallon reservoirs, 379 fire hydrants and two pumping stations are among the more important features of the enlarged municipal water system, for the development of which the board of public utilities is receiving bids.

The specifications accompanying the elaborate detailed plans for the improvement, prepared by Burns & McDonnell of Kansas City, Mo., provide for seven distinct contracts, and the various bids will require certified checks in an aggregate amount of $11,000.

More than $300,000 is available for the improvements, which will make possible not only an increased water supply, but provide domestic water for high lands highly improved because of the availability of irrigating water, but sparsely supplied with residences because of the difficulty of securing water for domestic use.

YIELD THERE AWAY SHORT

Anaheim Association Has
Twenty-five Per Cent
Less Walnuts

As Elsewhere, Considerable Trouble Experienced Over the Quality

ANAHEIM, Oct. 28.—Notwithstanding the fact that the season's walnut crop in this section and throughout the entire walnut district will fall short of a normal yield, the packing house of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' Association is busy this week. Archer Fay is directing the unloading, bleaching and shipping, the shipments going to wholesale customers who distribute them to consumers throughout the entire United States.

Ten thousand tons will be the amount of nuts sent out from California this season, which is a shortage of 2500 tons from the estimated crop. The Anaheim Walnut Association estimates its shipments at 300 tons, practically 25 per cent below the expected yield for this season.

Another drawback which is cutting down the revenue of the walnut grower in this extraordinary season is the quality of the nut. Up to the present not a sack of No. 1 softshells have been marketed. While there will be some first-class nuts brought in before the season ends, which will be November 20, none have yet appeared and all that have been shipped so far have been graded as No. 2.

The principal reason was the extremely hot weather early in September, just as the product was ripening, but the deadly aphid which attacked the trees earlier in the season is responsible for a good proportion of the damage. That pestiferous insect cut short the crop and the extreme heat damaged the quality. The expense to the growers is also greater this season from the fact that almost the entire crop has to be hulled by hand, the heat causing the hull to stick to the nut.

Prices this year are higher than for four years, which will minimize the loss from weather conditions considerably. The local association is composed of seventy-five members of Anaheim, Fullerton and Placentia walnut sections. The prices secured by the association will range from 2 to 3 cents higher than those paid by the independent buyers.

Dividend Record Broken

All American records for disbursement of nine dividends have been broken during the nine months ended September 30, the amount disbursed aggregating $78,772,652, according to figures compiled by the Mining and Engineering World. Compared with the same period in 1912 there is shown an increase in the amount of dividends paid of $12,972,169, and with 1911 an increase of $17,993,232. In the 1913 period 146 companies participated, while in 1912 there were 138 and in 1911, 123. In total dividends paid the 146 companies paying dividends in 1913 have to their credit disbursements amounting to no less than $896,232,195. The copper properties, thirty-four in number, have had a particularly satisfactory nine-months' period, despite the strike in the Lake Superior region, for dividends were paid totaling $38,270,115. This shows an increase over the same period in 1912 of $9,449,687.

Agricultural Markets

In the monthly letter issued by the National City Bank of New York considerable attention is paid to the Office of Markets in the Department of Agriculture which was only recently established. Says the letter:

The Office of Markets aims to be to the marketing end of the agricultural interests of the country, what the other branches of the Department of Agriculture have been to the growing end, investigating and endeavoring to solve marketing problems as they present themselves, to the best interests of all concerned. The work of the Office will be carried on for the present under the following headings: 1. Promulgation of market grades and standards; 2. Cooperative marketing and distribution; 3. Surveys of supply and demand, and demonstrations showing the effect of the organization of consumers; 4. Study of methods and costs of distribution; 5. Study of transportation problems, shipping and distributing organizations; 6. The investigation of the feasibility of a market news service for perishable products.

The promulgation of market grades and standards will be one of the first matters taken up, because the establishment of a common understanding of definitions of quality and character of farm produce is essential to any successful and systematized dealing between producer and wholesale merchant, and between the consumer and the producer. Cotton standards, for example, already are in existence, and recently there has been important work in the direction of standardizing grain but with the exception of cotton, grain, and hay, there is much confusion as to the meaning of standards, as applied to other products. The Office of Markets, therefore, will attempt to co-operate with producers, consumers, and middlemen in defining standards which will apply to all perishable products such as peaches, apples, asparagus, tomatoes, onions, cabbages, etc.

Before the consumer, the producer, and the middleman merchant can deal on a basis of absolute understanding, all must use a common language to define the size, quality, and variety of perishable produce, so that each will have a full knowledge of what he is to sell or what he is to buy under a given name. There should also be a uniform standard as to the amount of produce in given containers so that a crate or basket of produce would clearly define the quantity the buyer would receive.

For this work there is always some basis, as commission merchants and shippers have standards of their own. In many cases, however, the producer is not able to grade his product, and usually the consumer gains no enlightenment from the technical standard of the commercial man. The Office of Markets, therefore, will work to have things so accurately described that the average buyer, having received something and wishing to get exactly the same thing again, will know how to define it accurately in accordance with standards for such perishable products. This, it is believed, will operate both to give the farmer better prices for his products, and to assure the buyer that he will get the quantity and quality of fruit or produce which the grade he has bought calls for.

The Office also purposes to supply farmers with general information that will enable them better to dispose of their produce and regulate to some extent the acreage devoted to various products. For example, the Office might determine and make public, in a general way, information as to how much cabbage goes into winter storage in the Northern territory. Such production statements can be developed to a point where they would be a guide to Southern growers, so that they would not overplant with the result that they would find at harvest time, Northern markets still over-supplied with low priced storage stock, as they did last year. In the matter of transportation there are many subjects that require study besides the gaining of best rates, or leading producers to ship their material more directly to their markets. It is also believed, that the construction of refrigerator cars may be greatly improved, and that a careful study of this subject will result in data which the railroads will find useful as a basis for changes.

California Is Prosperous

Traffic Director Winchell of the Union Pacific System who in company with a number of other officials of the Harriman Lines made a trip through California, has returned to Chicago. Here is what he is reported in an interview to have said about the Golden State:

"California will this year, beginning November 1, ship 40,000 carloads of deciduous fruit, as against 35,000 carloads last season and against a maximum season of between 55,000 and 60,000 carloads. This is evidence of the rapidity with which the State has recovered from the frosts of last winter and spring. Of course, everybody on the Coast is expecting much from the Panama Canal and I think the development of California and the Coast generally will be helped by the canal. Already arrangements have been made for regular sailing of one of the Italian lines of steamers directly to the Coast, stopping at San Diego and San Francisco, through the canal. I have no doubt similar arrangements will be perfected by German and other boat lines. North Italy furnishes a first-class grade of fruit farmers and they will help the Coast, as they understand the cultivation of these products."

Prosperous Los Angeles

All daily records for building permits in Los Angeles were broken on Tuesday, when the building inspector's office issued 411 permits, divided thus: Building 109; plumbing 217; gas piping 85. And in addition to all these 521 notices for inspection were filed. Most of the permits were for the building of residences at moderate cost, which is the most conclusive evidence of the prosperous condition of the community.

Combination Midway Assessment

An assessment of five cents per share has been levied upon the capital stock of the Combination Midway Oil Company, of Los Angeles, payable on the 18th inst., delinquent after that date, sale to occur November 13.

Financing Road Construction

Construction of the California State highway through Tejon Pass has been financed by Southern California counties, provided the counties of Fresno and Tulare agree to similarly purchase bonds for the building of the unit from Bakersfield to Fresno. Among the counties which have agreed to purchase bonds for road work in their sections, conditional on the State Highway Commission spending a similar sum from the money already available in its general fund, are: Imperial, $200,000; San Luis Obispo, $250,000; Marin, $90,000; in Santa Clara, Tuolumne, Amador and Calaveras counties the question of taking over the bonds to hasten road construction is being considered. The Highway Commission announces it has found it necessary for county co-operation if the main trunk of the $18,000,000 highway system are to be completed by 1915.

In Imperial County the plan of the Supervisors in the improvement of the highways is to build entirely new roadways and surface them with granite from Calexico in the south end of the valley, to Rockwood in the north end, and from Holtville to a point between El Centro and Imperial. The stretch to be improved in the county is about forty miles in length.

General Business Situation

In a review of business conditions throughout the country, the Christian Science Monitor sums up the situation as follows:

While some business interests are indulging in pessimistic views as to the effects of the new United States tariff law, it is well to remember that no one knows exactly what those effects will be. It is the uncertainty which is causing the trouble. There has been some recession lately, particularly in the iron and steel industry. Otherwise business is holding up unexpectedly well. The fact is, the hand-to-mouth policy has been so long pursued and stocks generally are so low that a fundamentally strong situation is presented. There has been no undue speculation in any line, even in the securities markets. There is still a strong consuming demand. Of course there will be less buying when people have less money with which to satisfy their wants, but it is all as yet a matter of conjecture as to what extent economies will be necessary as a result of the operations of the new tariff law.

It may take six months or more before the business interests of the United States can get an idea of the results of the new law. Up to this time the effect has been wholly theoretical. One thing certain, however, is that in due time the United States will adjust itself to the new order of things and it is a wise man who looks well into the future and prepares for the prosperity that is to come. The enactment of new currency legislation should be a great help in fostering internal trade. Much opposition has been shown to the new bill by some of the large banking interests, but it is generally admitted that a new currency system is urgently needed and that it will greatly stimulate business when once it is in operation.

Owing to the long continued and world-wide scarcity of money, the railroads are still finding it difficult to negotiate loans for improvements or other purposes. Consequently some of them have been obliged to postpone or reduce dividend payments and pay for such improvements out of earnings. The question then naturally arises, is it not a good thing to make such expenditures in this way? Railroad corporations have so long been accustomed to floating notes and bond issues for one thing and another in connection with their operations, extensions and other improvements, that it is taken as a matter of course that such a procedure is necessary. And so it is in nearly all cases, if dividends are to be continued. However, it is often a good deal wiser to omit dividends until a road is financially strong enough to take care of its needs without enlarging its fixed charges. Just at present, gross earnings of almost all lines are heavy, but expenses have so kept pace with gains in receipts that net returns show scarcely any increases. In some cases there are substantial decreases. Higher freight rates may meet the emergency for the time being, but it is a question whether this would be a permanent remedy, considering the steady manner in which such expenses as wages, cost of materials and fixed charges have been mounting upward in recent years.

The advance in the Bank of England's minimum rate of discount strikingly emphasizes the world's scarcity of money. Capital is in urgent demand and easier conditions are not looked for until next year.

Public Ownership of Telegraph

That public ownership telegraph lines by the British Government does not pay but that the system is run at a great loss, is told by the London Times, as follows:

"Forty years of postoffice telegraph monopoly have produced a total deficiency for interest, excess of working expenses over receipts and some expenditure of a capital nature. The British taxpayer has paid an average of over $2,000,000 a year for the past forty years, and is now paying at the rate of over $4,200,000 a year for the luxury of having the telegraphs operated by Government instead of by private enterprise. There is no truth in the assertion that the cause of this great and continuous loss is the high price paid for the business in 1879, as the interest on the original capital, now $1,258,445, is not paid by the postoffice, but out of the Nation's consolidated fund."

"For all practical purposes the postoffice treats the telegraphs as if they had been a present granted by a grateful nation to a worthy department—at a cost of $54,355,000, on which the Nation with annually recurring kindness pays the interest. The postoffice keeps no capital telegraph account, and is unable to constitute one. Capital expenditure since 1879 has been provided by the Treasury, and has gone on to the bottomless pit, no interest being paid on it. Present telegraph capital expenditure is at the rate of about $1,000,000 a year, and although, according to the British return, the information at the disposal of the department is not sufficient to permit of the construction of a capital account, the information at the disposal of anybody who studies the annual returns indicates that $90,000,000 is a fair estimate of the total telegraph capital expenditure down to 1909."

"And besides, this vast outlay is not producing any profit, but on the contrary, it is lying dead and causing a loss of $4,200,000, which loss British taxpayers have to pay, just as taxpayers everywhere have to pay, not only the cost of publicly-owned properties, but the constant loss on the public operation of all of them, except water. The main reason for the failure of the British postoffice to make the telegraph self-supporting is uncommercial and extravagant management, due in a large measure to political control."

Enjoins Low Fare Order

The Nevada State Railroad Commission has been enjoined by Judge Farrington of the United States Court, sitting in Carson, from putting into effect an order reducing train and branch line fares on the railroads in the State from 5 and 4 cents per mile to 3 cents per mile.

FIND VALISE IN THE WEEDS

Stolen from Man on Santa Fe; Glasses Broken by Stray Shot

FULLERTON, Oct. 28.—In the weeds near the railroad track here a large valise was found cut open yesterday morning. It had the name and address of W. Clayton of San Diego, supposed to be the manager of the Spreckels railroads and other interests in that city. Clayton went north last night. The grip was stolen from the train. It is believed the thief was looking for money or valuables. City Marshal French found a lot of clothing and some jewelry in the valise and sent a telegram to Clayton at San Diego. A wire was received from Mrs. Clayton this afternoon to forward the valise to her husband, care of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. Whether or not anything was taken from the valise is not known. City Marshal French was informed this afternoon that the valise had been insured for $200 before Clayton left San Diego. The only cut on the valise was around the lock. A Santa Fe detective will investigate the matter.

Struck By Shot
While C. A. Beardway, Paul Nicolas, Carl Levering, William Schneider and Roy Gardner were hunting in the hills at Capistrano Sunday, a "stray shot," supposed to be from the gun of some near-by hunter, struck Beardway's eye-glasses, breaking them into many pieces. With the exception of a small cut under his right eye, Beardway was not injured. Some thief stole $30 last night from under the pillow of one of the employees at the O. & C. construction camp, near the place where W. Clayton's valise was found. Notwithstanding that prices are higher for walnuts than ever before in this section, the demand for Fullerton walnuts exceeds the supply. A representative of one of the associations stated this morning that his packing-house could not fill 70 per cent of the orders received. One order alone from Denver for four cars had to be turned down. As before, it is not believed more than ninety cars will be shipped from the Fullerton-Placentia district, which means a shortage of 25 per cent of an average crop.

It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—Advertisement.

BIGGEST CROP IN ITS HISTORY

Imperial Valley Will Receive Million and a Half for Cotton Crop

EL CENTRO, Oct. 28.—In no other year has the cotton crop yielded so great revenue per acre as the crop now being harvested, and it looks as though Imperial Valley would this year receive a million and a half dollars for the lint and seed. From every part of the valley there come reports of large yields, while the price is holding up splendidly, with present prospects for continued good prices. Estimates of the yield this year exceed 20,000 bales, and the quotations thus far indicate the value as above stated. The magnitude of the crop and the brilliant outlook are attracting very wide attention, the Agricultural Department at Washington having taken cognizance of it, while the railroad officials, having had their attention attracted to the conditions here, are widely heralding the conditions here. As the growers have obtained more experience with the crop under local conditions, the average yield has increased greatly, and the predictions now are for a vast increase in the acreage another year.

When you want to entertain your friends with a dinner, card or dancing party, don't go to the trouble and expense of having it at home. Go to Taylor's. We will furnish the room, music and service cheaper than you can, besides the trouble. We will be pleased to consult with you at any time.

YOUR HAIR NEEDS PARISIAN SAGE

Use It as a Tonic—Banish Dandruff—Stop Falling Hair and Scalp Itch

Parisian Sage is a delightful and invigorating hair tonic. It quickly penetrates into the scalp, gets to the roots of the hair, removes dandruff, and supplies the hair with just the kind of nourishment it needs to make it grow abundantly. Parisian Sage has had an immense sale, and here are the reasons: It is not injurious to the hair or scalp. It removes dandruff with one application. It stops falling hair and itching of the scalp. It cleanses, cools and invigorates the scalp. It makes hair that is thin, dull, matted or stringy, soft, abundant and radiant with life. It not only saves the hair but gives it that incomparable gloss and beauty you desire. Parisian Sage is delicately perfumed—not sticky or greasy—and comes in fifty cent bottles at drug-gists or toilet counters. Get a bottle from Rowley Drug Co.—now—at once. Rub a little into the scalp—you will be surprised with the result. Delighted users pronounce Parisian Sage the best, most pleasant and invigorating hair tonic made. Be sure you get Parisian Sage.

WOMEN WHO GET DIZZY
Every woman who is troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, headache, nervousness, weakness, debility, constipation, kidney troubles should use Electric Bitters. They give relief when nothing else will, improve the health, add strength and vigor from the first dose. Mrs. Laura Gaines, of Avoca, La., says: "Four doctors had given me up and my children and all my friends were looking for me to die, when my son insisted that I use Electric Bitters. I did so, and they have done me a world of good." Just try them 50c and $1.00 at all druggists or by mail, H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.
